A MESSAGE FROM MAYOR ANNETTE IAFALLO – LACKAWANNA TRAVEL ADVISORY LIFTED / OTHER SNOWSTORM UPDATES

With our snow removal efforts continuing, Lackawanna remains in a state of emergency. However, effective immediately, the city's travel advisory is being lifted. If you are planning to travel, please do so carefully.

As a reminder, regular garbage pickup resumes on Friday, November 25th for those whose regular garbage day is Friday. There is NO garbage pickup today, Wednesday, November 23rd or Thursday, November 24th.

PLEASE do not put totes or extra garbage bags to the curb before your regular garbage day, as this may further delay snow removal efforts.

I understand the past few days have been difficult on everyone. This was a unique snowstorm, both in amount and timing. And under those circumstances, not everything will be perfect. But please know we are doing our best for all people, in all wards, as fast as possible.

I wish everyone a safe and happy Thanksgiving.

Annette
